1. In accordance with reference (a), application for enrollment in the Marine Corps Naval Science Courses, commencing with the Fall Quarter, Academic Year 1998, is hereby submitted. I desire to be considered as a candidate for commission in the U.S. Marine Corps.

2. The United States Marine Corps is based on one of the most valuable character traits a human being can possess, leadership. As opposed to the ease involved in being a follower, it takes raw courage and profound strength to be a leader. Of the fourteen leadership traits; justice, judgment, dependability, initiative, decisiveness, tact, integrity, enthusiasm, bearing, unselfishness, courage, knowledge, loyalty, and endurance, not one is more important than the other. A true leader can incorporate all fourteen of these traits in order to motivate his men to follow his lead. I will use what the Marine Corps has and will continue to teach me to develop my leadership skills, and my mental and physical strength. While the United States Marine Corps will continue my development as a moral and unselfish leader, I also plan to do all I can to give to the Corps. As an officer in the United States Marine Corps I plan to constantly improve my character and leadership ability, and allow my thoughts, words, and actions to provide a model to those around me who hope to be a superb officer.

MARINE OFFICER INSTRUCTOR COMMENTS: Intelligent, bold, and dedicated. Maintains a 3.09 GPA in a finance curriculum in the University Honors College. He earned a 3.53 GPA last quarter. Midn has trained as a Marine Option College Program student for the past year. He has performed well in the field, and demonstrated a high standard of physical fitness and endurance. He is articulate, candid, and has a good sense of humor. He has excelled in the structured Marine environment, and promises to make an excellent Marine Officer. Has an aggressive, stubborn determination which characterizes his performance. An active member of the Auburn Semper Fidelis Society, he contributes greatly to my program. Ranked 3 of 4 competitive candidates. Note that other less competitive candidates were not submitted.
